Dear Gladys,

I know you have been patiently waiting for this package, and I hope you are as elated as I think you will be. I just picked up the copies from the printers Thursday, and it will probably be Monday before I get to the Post Office to get it mailed. This should keep you busy for awhile.

I hope it doesn't get too confusing for you. To sort of brief you on the contents; the title page is something I concocted, and is not too great, but serves the purpose. The poem, is something I also inserted. It came on a greeting card which I received from a niece quite sometime ago, and I thought it was so appropriate for a family history. Then, the first 27 pages is a writing done by young Daniel Cutbirth of Independence, MO on the research he has done on the early Cutbirth's. I think you will find it most interesting, and he is the one who originated the title of CUTBIRTH CONNECTIONS. The second portion, consisting of 11 pages, entitled "Some Missouri Cutbirth's", is a writing that I did. I will be the first to admit that it is not well-written, but does contain some interesting information. I see now, that your branch of Cutbirth's could be included in this section. Why not try writing an excerpt to include here? I think it would be neat! You don't have to be a professional, as you can see, and I would love to have it.

Anyway, the next few pages are not Cubirth, but is what Wilcoxson & Boone information I have beyond our Benjamin Cutbirth, Sr. that I thought you might like to have. Then starting with Benjamin Cutbirth, Sr., are Family Group Sheets of my direct line down to David Daniel Cutbirth/Cutburth, and then I have spread out to include all of his descendants that I know of. Many are incomplete, as you can see, but occasionally I find out a little bit more and add to. Some of the pictures did not copy well at all, but just left them in beings I had them copied. I have much more information on some of the other Cubirth lines, probably more on Daniel Cubrith, Sr. than anyone else, but as you can see, this much in itself is a large volume, and it gets a little costly to copy everything that I have. This much I'm sending in return for all the information that you can give me, any additional information about your family, copies of pictures, etc., and then if you are interested in the other information that I have, and would like to help with the cost of copies and postage, I would be happy to send it also.

Do you have a computer? Your letter and information was so neat, and the Group Sheets are identical to the ones I use from Everton Publishers.

I have been wishing for a computer to use with my genealogy for a long time, but have thought it might be an expensive luxury. I think the urge is getting the best of me though, as I have enrolled in a short course at our local Junior College to learn how to use a computer, starting Feb. 21st. I need to know something about them before I make the plunge. If you have one, please tell me all about it; what kind, where you got it, the software, and what you think about it. Any help would be appreciated. I see Everton Publishers has some advertised in their catalog, Kaypro brand, which I have never heard of before. They say they are IBM compatible, and they would have the software that I would need, but I'm going to shop around.

I don't think I have thanked you yet for all the information that you sent, so want to do that now. I was so pleased to get it, and would love to have anything else that you can contribute on the Cutbirth's. It was interesting to see that your mother's middle name was also Melvina. I was named after my Great-grandmother, Malvina Robert Morgan, spelled with an "a". I used to hate my name as a kid, because it was so different, but I have grown very fond of it in later years, especially since I've been doing family research, and am proud to have been named after my great-grandmother.

It is also interesting to see the pattern of migration of these Cutbirth's. I'll bet your Levi & Rebecca were living near my David & Mary in Gasconade Co., MO when your Francis Marion was born. Seem's like a lot of Benjamin, Jr's. kids bounced back and forth between Iowa and Missouri. I do have another contact in Ozark, MO who is descended from Benjamin, Jr's. son, James. She has promised me more information on her family, but I have been waiting a long time for it.

I must close for now. Please let me know what you think about all of this, and please let me know if you do move back to Iowa. I would need a change of address. Take care, and let me hear from you.

Sincerely,

Melvina

Dear Melvina,

You can't imagine, well yes I'm sure you can, the joy when I received the book you sent. I was expecting few more then the 28 pages you said earlier you would send. I was quite taken back when I saw the book you sent. I did not expect that amount of time or money you spent on it. However I feel I should reimburse you for the cost of the copying and cover, it was much more than I sent you.

The section that was done by Daniel Cutbirth was very interesting. I wish I could put things in story form like that. Also the cover and pages you had done was very interesting as well. The way you incorporated the pictures of the families, was very nice. I know they don't copy very well from just a copy place, but I think it is better than nothing. I have had some done that way and they to didn't come out too well. It is just too costly anyother way. Since I first received your letter with the information I needed to start with, I have done quite a lot of research in Waco library and have ordered four books on the Boone family and have come up with some of what Daniel had talked about and then found quite a lot more. However mostly on the Boones and not much on the Wilcoxson and Calloway families, that I was hoping for. I started with what I sent you, the name of Benjamin Cutbirth and thinking he was the father and now with your help and somewhere to look, I have a 2 inch notebook filled with info on those direct family lines. Quite a lot on some and not much on the others. I ordered the DAR records of John Wilcoxson and received the names of their children, which I didn't have and also the DAR record of someone on Benjamin Cutbirth. There is much written on the Boone line so was able to come up with quite a lot on them. Also the Morgan line that married into the Boone line I have back to England with sketchy info. The Calloway's in NC was said to have come from Bedford Co. VA. and there was a book in the Waco library on Kin of Bedford Co. and had quite a lot on the Calloways from there. There seems to be several Thomas Callaways and so not sure which one is our Thomas Callaway that went to NC. There was a Thomas Callaway who died in NC and buried near Obids, NC. who died in 1800, and this could be ours or could be another one. Have to do more research on that line. Have come a long way in a short time but have a long way to go also.

I believe we are computer poor, now I have an IBM compatable computer from Sears, with 2 disk drives and color monitor. Before I had a Commodore C64 as my husband had a Commodore 128 and so I started with that. Seemed like everytime he was on the computer, I needed it so, decided to get one for my office. After taking a computer class from a college here, and working on the IBM, I found the Commodore was not doing what I needed it to do for the type of work I was needing to do. So we sold my system and bought the IBM and now have a good word processor called PC Write, which does every thing I need it to do for letters and books and any thing else in that line. I have an index program called Sky Index which is good for indexing the books I compile and print. I just purchased a genealogy program called Brothers, which is not as elabrate as the Roots II by Quinsept which we have for the Commodore but it was only $25.00 and does what I want it to do. I have a C-IOTH printer. The only problem is with a computer you get so use to the fast typing and you go back to a typewriter and you forget where the keys are and can't go as fast and it's like learning all over again. Before I had the computer, I didn't have that problem. I wouldn't be without it now that I have such good programs, that I can do what I need to with it. There are a lot of computers on the market and it is just your choice. But I would highly recommond an IBM compatable for general work and genealogy. If you want just games and such, like my husband and the grandKids want, the Commodore is best. You can shop around and see what each one has and what each one does and go from there. I think anyone in genealogy should have a computer of some sort, as it does make it a lot more fun and easier.

My computer is called the Laser Turbo XT. and is IBM compatable. It has the key board and the two disK drives are built in together on one unit. The monitor is a Magnavox color. C-Ioth printer. All came from Sears except the printer, it is the first printer we bought and is a real good one so I got it and my husband bought a Star NX1000, which is also good. Since I had a lot of my genealogy on the Commodore he will keep his for a while till I can get every thing changed over to IBM. Before I had access to a computer, I had all my information on forms from Evertons, then I designed my own forms to use on the computer until I found a genealogy program I liked and used them for the Commodore. Now I have my own forms on computer as well as the genealogy program.

Well enough rambling, I had better get this ready to mail. After I get through all this info, we will see what else we need to exchange and go from there.

Sincerely,

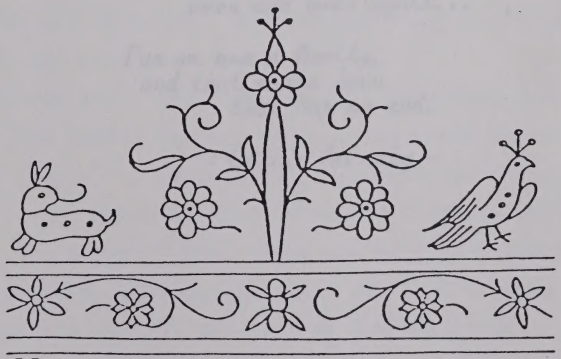
CUTBIRTH CONNECTIONS



A FAMILY IS LOVE

Wherever we go,
and whatever we do,
let us live with this remembrance in our hearts...
that we are family.

What we give to one another comes full circle.
May we always be
the best of friends;
may we always be one another's
rainbow on a cloudy day;
as we have been yesterday
and today to each other,
may we be so blessed
in all our tomorrows...
over and over again...

For we are a family,
and that means love
that has no end.

- Collin McCarty -

CUTBIRTH CONNECTIONS

The patriarch of our family, Benjamin Cutbirth, was born approximately 1740, more than likely in Pennsylvania. In a letter written by his son-in-law Elijah Calloway of North Carolina to the famed historian Lyman Draper on June 10, 1845; "Benjamin Cutbirth, the great hunter and explorer of the West, was born in Augusta County, Virginia, about the year 1740." However, Elijah's son, Dr. James Calloway writes in his letter of February 19, 1852; " My grandfather, Benjamin Cutbirth, as I have always heard my mother say, came from Pennsylvania to the fork of the Yadkin..." There was a large scotch irish settlement in south central Pennsylvania early in the eighteenth century. Because the Penn family literally owned the state at that time, the scotch-irish, not finding the freedoms they so yearned for, began a mass exodus south in the 1750's over the Great Wagon Road which led most of them to North Carolina. Their journey did take them through western Virginia however, along the Blue Ridge Range, where Augusta County is situated. Some of the immigrants settled in the Valley of Virginia and others followed the Trading Path into the Yadkin River area of North Carolina. This author, having no other data to draw from at this time, feels it is most likely Benjamin hailed from Pennsylvania, although he may have lived in Augusta County, Virginia at some point along the way. James Calloway further states; " My uncle Daniel Cutbirth (Benjamin's eldest son) was sent back to Pennsylvania when he got large enough and went to school..."

Elijah Calloway tells us Benjamin was a young boy when his father died and "...his widowed mother married when he was grown to manhood and his being an enterprising nature, he early left his step-father's house and emigrated to Roan (sic) County, North Carolina." Reuben Twaites, author of Daniel Boone states in his notes; " His father having died while the son was yet young, he grew up to manhood as the chief stay and support of a widowed mother and fatherless family, deprived of the opportunity of acquiring knowledge, save that which related to honest industry in securing a comfortable livelihood by the plow and hoe, with a perfect understanding of the ready use of the all important rifle. His mother having married again, young Cutbirth concluded to seek his fortune in the Yadkin country, of which he had heard many a good report." Church records indicate he lived near Mocksville, near his future in-laws, John and Sarah Boone Wilcoxen.

The Rowan County tax list of October 8, 1761 includes Benjamin Cutbeard. It was about this time that he met and married Elizabeth Wilcoxen. Again, from Twaites' notes; "At the close of the French War, there arrived in the Boone settlement a young man of scotch-irish descent of the name of Benjamin Cutbirth..., once there, he encountered the bright eyes and rosy cheeks of the fair Elizabeth Wilcoxen, a niece of Daniel Boone's, and soon became inextricably entangled in the meshes of love, he wisely surrendered himself at discretion to the lovely charmer, and never after had cause to regret his ready capitulation. This marriage into the family brought Boone and Cutbirth together. Their acquaintance soon developed into friendship, and possessing a fellow feeling, they spent many a day and night happily together in the wilderness in the exciting pursuits of the chase."

Boone and Cutbirth hunted in the early 1760's in the Watauga region of western North Carolina and eastern Tennessee. They hunted mostly deer and bear, and on occasion Boone was prone to collecting ginseng, which he would sell back home. On one such hunting trip in this area, along a tributary of New River, Boone and Cutbirth discovered the forest was filled with indian hunting parties, and in Elijah Calloway's words; "They had a great deal of peltry on hand and a great deal of bear bacon dried, more than they could possibly carry off, they concluded to build a pen and deposit their bacon, their bear, as they had more peltry than their horses could possibly carry off. They returned home and when they returned to their camp again, their bacon was all destroyed.I have been many a time at the spot where that happened and seen the stumps of the trees cut away to build their pen, and that ever after was called Meat Camp and the creek took it's name after on, which name it will bear through all time."

Benjamin and Boone frequently ran into Cherokee indians in this region who were very unhappy with white men hunting their game. One time, after a successful hunting excursion along Roan Creek, a branch of the Watauga, an indian hunting party came upon Boone and Cutbirth and robbed them of their all. The Cherokees were very fond of expressing their dissatisfaction in this way. Disheartened, knowing they were to return home empty handed, they none the less realized they were very lucky to escape with their lives. The indians had other ways of discouraging whites from hunting in their lands. In 1758, indian depridations became so severe that most people in the Yadkin area fled to South Carolina or Virginia until the massacres were stopped.

Benjamin and Elizabeth soon began their family, about 1762 they had their first child, a son whom they named Daniel Boone Cutbirth. In 1764 they were blessed with another man-child, Benjamin Jr. It was about this time the Yadkin River area began to see it's population rapidly grow. This meant one important thing to a hunter; more competition for a dwindling amount of game. In 1765 a group of North Carolinians from the Roanoke River area set sail for New Orleans and established a settlement just north of Baton Rouge on the Mississippi River. Hearing of this, Benjamin decided to investigate this new wilderness for himself. So in the spring of 1766, history watched as Benjamin Cutbirth and three other "leather stockings" from the Yadkin; John Baker, James Ward and Daniel Boone's brother-in-law John Stewart saddled their pack horses, set their backs to the rising sun and set off for the Mississippi. Boone had been asked to go along but declined, and spent the next few months berating himself for not going.

They traveled west along a little known indian trail across southern Kentucky and northern Tennessee, passing through many indian nations, most of whom had never seen firearms before. Viewing the Great River somewhere near the Missouri bootheel, the foursome became the first whites ever to accomplish this feat overland from the Atlantic. Upon reaching the Mississippi, they found a great deal of lumber and game going down the river to feed the growing city of New Orleans. Sensing a great opportunity, they followed the river north to a large tributary, probably the Ohio or Missouri River and established a winter camp. The spring and summer of 1767 found the four accumulating " a great deal of bear bacon, and bear oil, buffalo beef and tallow, venison hams, furs and skins and peltry of every kind..." which they took down river in their water crafts to New Orleans and traded or sold. In the fall they again traveled upstream and wintered. Benjamin, though he preferred not to talk about "things past and gone," did relate to his son-in-law Elijah Calloway several interesting details about his historic journey.

Most of the stories he told were, as could be expected, about his exploits on the river; such as the time they were on a tributary trying to enter the Mississippi River was very high as they met the backwater two days before they reached the Mississippi River, which was very hard rowing against but when they came in sight of the river they found it was extremely high, but they being all good water men they pressed on to get into the main stream of the river, but the back water was so strong it drove them back up the river, again they made another attempt and got almost into the bottom, but they all being good water men and as he always thought the hand of Providence preserved him, they extricated themselves from the danger. Being drove away up the river again they doubled diligently and launched out into the mainstream and went on safely to the Orleans." As Benjamin and his companions were prone to traveling at times bothe night and day on the river, they found themselves once on the Mississippi at midnight when a violent wind and rainstorm overcame them with such dark and low clouds they could neither see nor find either bank. Their vessel quickly filled with water but the nature of their cargo, lumber, caused the vessel to float. At length they saw a break in the clouds which revealed the land, and after rowing with all their might finally reached the shore, at which time Benjamin repeated on of his favorite sayings; "...That no man could die until his time came." Another story Benjamin related occured while he was standing on one bank of the Mississippi gazing across at the other side when suddenly about three acres of land shelved into the river "As quick as the crack of a gun." Benjamin also told of the time he came upon a bank that had been washed away and he saw the end of a canoe sticking out of the bank about twenty feet below the surface of the ground, with large trees growing above and roots entangled about the canoe. Benjamin quessed that it must have been there at least a hundred years.

Having spent the winter upstream, they descended the Mississippi in the spring of 1768 with a large amount of furs and skins. Reaching New Orleans they sold their goods for a small fortune. In the words of a newspaper reporter of the day, they gained ".. quite a respectable reward." It is evident that the news of this success reached the wrong ears. Shortly after the four left New Orleans for home, they were set upon by a number of Spanish soldiers who robbed them of their money. They barely escaped with their horses and their lives. Regrouping, they left again for home. Following the Mississippi north, they reached a Frenchman's house where they could rest and spend the night. Later that evening, a group of Choctaw indians out on a hunt also called on the Frenchman. As the Choctaws were more in favor of the French rather than the Spanish, one of the indians endeavored to ingratiate himself into the good graces of his host by ridiculing Benjamin. The more Ben would try to remain calm, the more the indian would increase his mocking gestures. The Choctaw indians, a jolly lot, traditionally enjoyed laughing at the misfortunes of others, and this night their entertainment was at Benjamin's expense. Finally having endured enough, Benjamin walked over to the indian, grabbed him around the arms, carried him to the bank of the Mississippi and threw him in, much to the delight of the other indians. The drenched indian came out of the river laughing and all seemed well. The four Carolinians soon left the Frenchman's home once more intent on reaching their homes. They were followed however, by the Choctaw indians, who were intent on killing the four "long knives." A few nights later the indians caught up with Benjamin and company, but only succeeded in stealing their horses and gear. Benjamin then proceeded to the Choctaw town of Quanshito, where he made his complaint to the great head chief hoping to retrieve his belongings. The only thing he received was more ridicule and abuse from the chief, who was trying to impress his braves. The only thing left to the Yadkin hunters was to set out for home on foot, which they did; traveling through the Creek nation, present day Mississippi and Alabama, finally reaching home late in 1768. Finding their families well, the four adventurers vowed never again to return to that part of the country.

(Author's note: Concerning the fate of Ben's three companions; John Stewart explored the Cumberland Gap region of Kentucky with Daniel Boone in 1769 and was killed by indians. John Baker died in Rockcastle County, Kentucky about 1820. I've not as yet found anything on James Ward.)

1770 brought the birth of Benjamin and Elizabeth's first daughter, Mary , who according to relatives, took after the Boone side even more than the Boone children. In 1771 Rev. George Soelle, a Moravian Home Missionary, stopped at the Cutbirth home near Mocksville to preach. 1772 saw the birth of another daughter, Sarah, who was to be Ben's last child. In that year Benjamin, Daniel Boone and John Tate set off to hunt in Kentucky. While there, Tate constantly boasted of his powers of fisticuffs and often challenged Boone to fight him. Daniel finally acceded and Tate spent the next several days in camp, recovering. Church records show us that in the fall of 1772 a Baptist minister, John McGlamre of the Dutchman Creek congregation stopped by Ben's place.

1773 started out peacefully enough, Benjamin was baptized March 7 by Rev. William Cook, and he took off for Kentucky again with Daniel Boone in the spring, delving even further beyond the Cumberland Gap. Daniel remarked that he was "greatly pleased" with the land and planned a trip that fall to coloniże Kentucky. Having gathered together friends and kinfolk, including Benjamin, Boone started off for " Kain-tuck" on September 23, 1773. This trip was not destined to fare well. A couple of weeks later the group had split into two hunting parties; one under Boone and the other under his brother-in-law, William Bryan. On October 9, Bryan, tired of short meat allowances, split his group into three small groups to search for game. That night, Benjamin and an unknown companion stopped at an old campsite he and Boone had used on previous hunting trips, a place called Wallen's Ridge. But they couldn't find any wood convenient to make a fire with, and having no axe, they proceeded a bit further before camping for the night. They were awakened the next morning by the sound of gunfire from the direction of Wallen's Ridge. Boone's scattered party quickly responded to the gunshots and came upon the campsite, finding all five hunters dead and scalped, including Daniel's young son, James, who was tortured to death. At this time Benjamin stated "Oh! I see that I cannot die until my time comes, for if there had been an armful of wood here, we should all have shared the same fate." Daniel and his group returned to North Carolina to inform his wife, Rebecca. He then returned with Benjamin and Will Grant to properly bury the dead, and then continued on to Kentucky, wintering in a cave in what is now Jessamine County, where he observed his custom of carving his initials into the cave wall- "D.B. 1773" Daniel and his friends found the land invested with hostile indians and abandoned their settlement plans, returning for now to the Yadkin.

1774 proved to be fairly uneventful except for Elizabeth, who dedicated herself to Christ on August 7, 1775 proved to be anything but uneventful for Benjamin. Judge Richard Henderson made a treaty with the Cherokees at Sycamore Shoals, purchasing one hundred square miles of land in Kentucky from them and commissioned Daniel Boone to lead a seasoned group of backwoodmen to cut a road for future settlers. The Cherokee chief took Boone by the hand and said "Brother, we have given you a fine field, but you will have trouble in the settling of it..." An understatement, considering the fact that the Cherokee did not own that parcel of land, the Shawnee did. A fact Boone would find out for himself. So on March 10, 1775, Daniel, Michael Stoner, Squire Boone, Benjamin Cutbirth and others rendevoused at the Long Island of Holston and embarked on their expedition to cut a road through the Kentucky wilds. They blazed a trail through Powell's Valley and passed through the Cumberland Gap, then widened the old Warrior's Path for about fifty miles before heading west near Hazel Patch. Following an ancient buffalo trace northwest they came upon the Rockcastle River, where they had to cut their way through twenty miles of country covered with dead brush, which according to Felix Walker, the chronicler of the group, was a "Difficult and laborious task." They then had to cut through thirty miles of thick cane and reed before they eventually reached their objective, the mouth of Otter Creek on the south bank of the Kentucky River on March 31, 1775. Work was immediately begun on the erection of a fort. Captain Richard Callaway graciously offered his name forward as talk of what to call the fort began. But thankfully, the majority of the roadcutters disagreed, and posterity came to know the site as Fort Boonesborough, and the trail they created as the Wilderness Road, both national treasures.

However their journey had not been without incedent. On March 24, camped outside of what is now Richmond, Kentucky, they were attacked by indians. They beat the natives back but suffered injuries and fatalities. It was here that Benjamin was about to be killed by an indian when Daniel Boone saved his life. Another night a mad wolf entered camp and attacked James Nall. Boone, Cutbirth and two others fired at the wolf, killing it. Nall survived the attack and miraculously did not contract rabies.

As event-filled as this undertaking already was, it was just the beginning. On June 13 many men returned east to bring their families to Boonesborough, just as indian attacks were resuming. The Continental Congress refused to recognize the settlement as the fourteenth colony, effectively destroying the dream of Transylvania. 1776 turned out to be just as hazardous. During the summer, outside the fort, Boone's daughter Jemima, and two Callaway girls, Betsy and Fanny, were kidnapped by indians. They were soon rescued by Boone and others, who killed the kidnappers in the process. 1777 brought more of the same. Indian raids mounted in veracity and Boone was wounded and nearly killed in an attack on the fort. An escaped slave led one such attack, and when Daniel was told of this during the attack, he left his position, walked to another wall, aimed his rifle at the black man standing at the edge of the forest surrounding the fort, and placed a bullet into the slave's forehead, after which Boone walked back to his original position. The settlers also suffered a salt shortage so severe that they were compelled to draft a petition to Congress asking the government to take over the salt licks owned by individuals so that salt could be distributed to everyone equitably.

Encouraged by the British, the indians renewed their attack throughout 1778. So intense were the attacks that Boone went to the British and the indians, staying among them for several months trying to persuade them not to attack the fort. His efforts proved fruitless however, and he escaped to return to the fort just in time to help repulse the attack. At the instigation of Captain Richard Callaway, who was intensely jealous of Boone, Daniel was court-martialed for treason. During the trial Benjamin was called as a witness in Boone's defense to testify as to Callaway's ulterior motives. The prosecution neutralized Ben's testimony however, bringing up the fact that Daniel once saved his life and was related to him by marriage. Boone was nonetheless exonerated by the Judge Advocate Col. Daniel Trabue, and was promoted to Major. Callaway was killed by indians two years later.

In 1779 the new Kentucky settlers gave the whole of their savings, twenty thousand dollars, to Boone so that he might travel to Richmond, Virginia and purchase land warrants. Tragically, before he reached Richmond, he was set upon by thieves who robbed him of the money. A short time later, land speculators from Pennsylvania, Virginia and New York purchased the Kentucky lands, this time from the Shawnee, thereby voiding the settler's original claims. Dispirited, Benjamin and his brother-in-law Samuel Wilcoxen returned with their families to North Carolina. Ben's new home, in the Blue Ridge mountains, was situated on the south fork of New River, some three or four miles from an area called "Old fields", which is an old indian camp or clearing. This location is near the present day border between Ashe and Wilkes Counties.

The American Revolution had been raging since 1775 and much of the new nation was divided in it's loyalties; those favoring independence and those remaining loyal to the British crown, the Tories. Even though the majority favored independence, bands of armed Tories roamed the Yadkin area. The British paid well for Rebel prisoners. In April, 1781 a Tory leader, Capt. William Riddle came through Wilkes County from his camp at the head of Meat Camp Creek.with his armed band Rebel captives on the way to Ninety-six, South Carolina, where they would collect their bounty. From a letter of William Calloway to Draper we learn "The Callaways, Clevelands, Cutbirths, Shirleys, Taneys, Thompsons and Bakers, who constituted the principal families of Whigs who lived near the mountains...were kept busy to protect themselves." Riddle found out a local revolutionary hero, Col. Benjamin Cleveland was in the vicinity and set out to capture him. On April 14 Riddle came upon Ben Cutbirth's place looking for information as described in John Crouch's Historical Sketches of Wilkes County; "Riddle, with his party of six to eight men, reached Benjamin Cutbirth's some four miles above Old Fields, a fine old Whig and an associate of Daniel Boone, who was just recovering from a spell of fever, the Tory Captain, probably from Cutbirth's reticence regarding solicited information, shamefully abused him and placed him under guard..." Riddle and the rest of his men then left to capture Col. Cleveland. In the meantime Daniel Cutbirth, Benjamin's eldest son, who was absent during these events, returned home. Enraged, young Daniel and a friend of his named Walters armed and positioned themselves to ambush Riddle on his return. However when the boys heard Riddle and his party returning, (Riddle and his men were coming through the forest, still out of sight.) they heard so many military commands and commotion, they reckoned that Riddle had increased the size of his patrol and decided not to attack him. As it turned out Riddle hadn't any more men, but had captured Col. Cleveland. Once again coming to Ben Cutbirth's, Riddle ordered dinner for himself, his men and prisoners. One of Ben's daughters, Mary, not willingly serving the Tories, received verbal abuse and then kicks from Riddle to make her hurry the preparations for the meal. Finally leaving Ben's house, Riddle's group proceeded fourteen miles along New River to a place near Elk Creek called the Wolf's Den. But they had been followed this time by a group of teenagers, including Daniel Cutbirth and a couple of Callaway boys. As they crept up on Riddle's camp, they spied Col. Cleveland sitting on a log slowly writing out passes for Riddle and his marauders. Cleveland knew as soon as he finished writing, his usefulness to Riddle was up and his life would be in jeopardy. Suddenly Cleveland saw the youths, threw his huge frame backward over the log, and barely escaped the hail of bullets raining down on Riddle's men. When the shooting was over Riddle had escaped, but left behind a mortally wounded member of his party, Zachariah Wells. As young Daniel and his comrades saddled up to return with the rescued Cleveland, it was decided that they would also leave behind the wounded Wells. A short time later Riddle and two of his men were captured and taken to Wilkesboro, where they were to be hung. The evening before the hangings were to take place, Riddle said to Cleveland, "Colonel, you won't hang such a man as I am.", to which Cleveland replied; "I will be dammed if I don't hang you when breakfast is over." Cleveland was true to his word.

With the successful conclusion of the War for Independence, Benjamin's life at last appeared to become a bit more tranquil. In a 1782 Wilkes County, North Carolina tax list Col. Cleveland's brother, Captain Robert Cleveland, lists Benjamin Cuthbert living in his district. Benjamin had little or no knowledge of letters and the enumerators often had to spell names as they sounded, consequently Ben's last name had many variations through the years. About 1784 his son Daniel married Elizabeth (Betsy) Coleman and the next mention of Benjamin was in the 1787 Wilkes County tax list as follows;

Benjamin Cutbirth	one male 21–60
	two males under 21 or over 60
	four females
Daniel Cutbirth	one male 21–60
	two males under 21 or over 60
	one female

The Dutchman's Creek church minutes at Deep Creek for October, 1787 lists 189 names, including Benjamin Cutbeard.

On January 30, 1789 Benjamin Herndon, chairman of the Wilkes County Circuit Court "Binds unto Benjamin Cutbirth an orphan girl Elender Hill, age circa seven years, daughter of Sarah Hill, now Sarah Boyd till age 18 years. Learn occupation spinster, read and write." It would appear Benjamin, now 50, took the teachings of the church and the Holy Bible refreshingly seriously. And later that year, on thursday, April 7, 1789 in Ashe County, North Carolina, two of Ben's children were married; Mary to Elijah Callaway, (a future U.S. Senator) and Benjamin Jr. to Salina Callaway. (As related by Benjamin Cutbirth Callaway, a son of Mary and Elijah.)

In 1790 the Three Forks Baptist Church was constituted in the home of Robert Shearer. From church records; "A book containing the faith (as may be seen in the Covenant) and conduct of the Baptist Church of Jesus Christ in Wilkes County, North Carolina State, New River, Three Forks settlement, which church being constituted ye 6 day in the year of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ 1790...At which time received and added by experience and baptism Sarah Coleman and Avis Eggers; also sister Lydia Counsel by letter; also brother Benjamin Cutbirth by experience." The first United States federal census, taken in 1790, lists Benjamin in Wilkes County, Morgan's district;

Ben Culberth	one male 16 and up
	one male under 16
	one female
Dan Culberth	one male 16 and up
	one male under 16
	three females
Elijah Calliway	one male 16 and up
	two females

Benjamin next shows up in 1794, just across the North Carolina border in Johnson County, Tennessee. Goodspeed's History of Johnson County, Tennessee lists him and his son Daniel among the first settlers on the Laurel River. Also on that list was Joseph Wilson, who married Ben's daughter Sarah on August 27, 1794 in Washington County, Tennessee. That same year the new Roane Creek Baptist Church listed Benjamin as one of it's first members.

1795 found Benjamin and both of his boys in Washington County. His daughter, Mary Cutbirth Callaway, had stayed behind in North Carolina, where she would live out her days with her husband Elijah and their many children. Ben apparently was doing a bit better financially that year, for he had acquired a slave. The reader will have to use a little imagination on this next tax list. It is Captain Reuben Thornton's district, 1795 Washington County, Tennessee;

Cutbarth, Banjn. Sen.	1 black poll
Culbouth, Bugn.	1 white poll
Cutbuth, Donnel	1 white poll	100 acres

In 1796 all three Cutbirths are still together, but are now listed in Carter County, Tennessee. They were probably still in the same area, noting that county boundaries changed often in those days. On July 5, 1796 Ben Sr. bought 200 acres for 100 shillings, and son Daniel bought 100 acres for 50 shillings. The following is the 1796 Carter County tax list;

Benjamin Cutberth Sr.	1 black poll
Benjamin Cutberth Jr.	1 white poll
Daniel Cutberth Sr.	1 white poll

In 1797 Carter County commissioned a slaveowner's census in which Ben Sr. was listed as having one slave. Subsequent tax lists in 1798 and 1799 show the Cutbirth brood still together, as evidenced by the 1799 Carter County tax list;

Daniel Cutbirth	1 white male 21-50	100 acres
Benjamin Cutbirth	1 white male 21-50
Ben Cutbirth Sr.	1 slave 10-50	200 acres

On September 8, 1800 Benjamin Sr., now about 60, sold 150 of his 200 acres in Carter County to John McElyea for $330. But on November 12, 1800 Ben bought 488 acres on the Laurel Fork of Holston River from Abraham Byler for $205.50.

1802 found Benjamin Sr. and Daniel divesting themselves of their Tennessee lands. On February 18, 1802 Benjamin sold 152 acres to Benjamin Tompkins for $167, and on May 4 sold 336 acres to Adam Wensel for $1500. This left Ben just 50 acres. On July 26, 1802, Daniel sold his 100 acres to John Wilson for $440. It was about this time that Benjamin Sr. and Daniel moved to Knox County, Kentucky, just north of the Cumberland Gap. The 1803 Knox County tax list shows them living on 100 acres bordering the Cumberland River and lists Ben as owning one slave over 16. On May 10, 1803, Benjamin arranged to sell his remaining 50 acres in Carter County, Tennessee to his son-in-law Joseph Wilson for $300. This land bordered that of Benjamin Jr.

In February of 1804 Benjamin Jr. and Joseph Wilson sold their lands in Carter County and in 1805 were both found in Knox County, Kentucky very near Benjamin Sr. and Daniel. The 1806 Knox County tax list showed the following;

Benjamin Cutbirth Sen.	1 white male over 21
	1 total blacks
	4 horses (mares)
Benjamin Cutbirth	1 white male over 21
	1 white male above 16 or under 21
	3 horses (mares)
Daniel Cutbirth	1 white male over 21
	1 white male over 16 or under 21
	4 horses (mares)
	100 acres (3rd rate) on Cumberland River

In 1807 Benjamin Sr. had either sold or freed his slave and moved to Maury County, Tennessee where he signed a petition on August 22 to form Maury County. The 1808 Knox County, Kentucky tax records indicate Daniel and Benjamin Jr. were still there, but in 1809 Daniel had moved to Maury County. Benjamin Sr. however, now 70, was then living on the west fork of Shoal Creek in northern Alabama. The only problem was it wasn't Alabama then, it was part of the Cherokee Nation, and the indians took exception to him being there. They complained to the Indian Agency and on May 23, 1809 U.S. government authorities forced Benjamin and other "intruders" off of indian land.

Maury County, Tennessee was the home in 1810 for Benjamin Sr. and Daniel. They lived on Big Creek near Bigbyville where Daniel operated a mill. The 1810 Federal census for Knox County, Kentucky listed Ben. Jr. as Benjamin Cutbearth, along with his wife Salina and their eight children. They were, in order of age; James, Polly, David, Sally, Jeremiah, Rebecca, Nancy and Jane. They lived near Barbourville.

The 1811 Maury County tax list included Benjamin Sr. and Daniel. The 1811 Knox County list has Ben Jr. as well as Joseph Scholl, who married Ben Jr.'s daughter Polly (Mary) in March of 1810.

The 1813 Knox County tax list includes Benjamin Jr. and his son David, who married Mary Wilson on February 14, 1813. The 1814 tax list for Knox County has Benjamin Jr., David, and John Ervin, who married another of Ben's daughters, Sally, on February 10, 1814. The August 25, 1814 issue of the Columbia, Maury County, Tennessee Chronicle mentions a petition sent to the U.S. government on behalf and signed by the men forced off Cherokee lands in 1809. Benjamin Sr. was among the signers of this petition and this is the last trace I have found of him. Although the Daughters of the American Revolution states that he died in 1817, the 1816 Maury County tax list includes Daniel Cutbirth but not Benjamin. He apparently died between 1814 and 1816. His wife Elizabeth died about 1818.

The part of this narrative concerning itself with Benjamin Sr. would not be complete without mentioning his personality, physical appearance and what his peers and historians said of him. Taking into consideration these events occured well over two hundred years ago, we are indeed fortunate to have the following quotes. From his grandson, Dr. James Callaway; "I have no recollection of ever seeing him but I have heard my mother say that he was a stout, square built man—about five feet ten inches high—dark hair and rather dark complexion. That he was a man of most undaunted courage—of great industry and perserverance—an honest man and a good Whig—he was a man of few words—of rather morose and taciturn disposition..." and "...He talked very little except when he met with some old acquaintance or associate from a hunting trip or excursion into the wilderness and that on such occasions he would set up all night on religious matters or the scriptures. He liked to talk with such of his old acquaintances and that was the way the family learned most about his trips. He was a man of irreproachable character and undoubted veracity." and from Eckert's The Court Martial of Daniel Boone; " Clad in faded gray linsey-woolsey shirt and trousers, Cutbirth was a medium man in most physical respects. Of medium height and weight, his features were regular and undistinctive, his hair a pale brown, and his complexion tanned. He smiled easily, showing even white teeth that were a trifle too small. He was neither tense nor too nonchalant, but simply calmly alert." and " Benjamin Cutbirth was shown to be a man of high moral character, a very honorable man." From Billington's Westward Expansion; " Even more spectacular were the exploits of another expedition led by Benjamin Cutbird of North Carolina... the principle importance of this bold journey was to interest Daniel Boone in Kentucky." And from Clark's Kentucky, a Land of Contrast; " Among them came Gasper Mansker, Elisha Walden, Jack Blevins, Benjamin Cuthbirth, Henry Scaggs, William Newman, and William Pittman. These men were more than hunters, they were the forerunners of anglo-american civilization..." and " Long hunting was not an unknown past time for Daniel Boone. He had hunted with such seasoned woodsmen as Benjamin Cuthbirth for game and land along the Watauga in eastern Tennessee." From Elliott's The Long Hunters; " One of the most remarkable westward journeys of the long hunters was made by Benjamin Cutbirth..."

The DAR have Benjamin listed as a revolutionary patriot and erected a marker in Kentucky commemmorating the exploits of all those who helped cut the Wilderness Road. Among the names is Benjamin Cutbirth. The marker reads; " In testimony of the gratitude of posterity for the historic service of cutting the Transylvania Trail for that company, the first great pathway to the west, March - April 1775, from Long Island of the Holston River, Tennessee, to the Otter Creek in Kentucky by a gallant band of axmen, pioneers, and indian fighters who at the risk of loss of life opened the doors of destiny to the white race in Kentucky and the west."

Elijah Callaway said that Benjamin "... was one of the first white men that ever cut a stick of timber to build a fort for defense in Kentucky and among the first ever to clear a foot of ground to make corn in Kentucky..." Elijah also described Ben's place of burial; " He and his old lady which was a niece of Daniel Boone has long since laid down their bodies upon Elk River in Tennessee after living in the Baptist church about forty years. They hear no more the voice of the oppressor and are perhaps as happy and as rich as the robbers at Orleans or the land speculators of Kentucky or Tennessee."

Continuing the Cutbirth saga, we find Benjamin Jr. still in Knox County, Kentucky in 1817. But by the summer of 1819 he had moved to Morgan County, Indiana near Brooklyn on White Lick Creek, where he built the first corncracker mill in the county. It was 18 x 18 feet, built of logs with an overshot mill wheel, which was typical of mills of that day. The stones were "nigger-heads" which had been made from granite boulders by Ben, and he built the dam of brush, logs, stones, etc. It was said that Benjamin could bake an excellent johnny-cake in the huge fireplace and was expert at roasting meat. All of the settlers in the northern part of the county used Ben's mill for their corn meal. Benjamin lived two miles north of the mill in Brown Township, near Mooresville. He would usually go down to his mill and spend a week at a time working. The base of Ben's mill still can be seen on the west bank of the creek south of the bridge in Brooklyn. Daniel Cutbirth was in Giles County, Tennessee in 1819, signing a land speculators petition on October 5.

The 1820 federal census finds Daniel in Giles County and Benjamin Jr. in Delaware County, Indiana, White River Parish. (Morgan County was formed from Delaware County) Two of Ben Jr.'s sons, James and David showed up on the 1820 Whitley County, Kentucky census. (Whitley County was formed from Knox County) Daniel Sr.'s eldest son Benjamin, died in 1819 in Hempstead County, Arkansas, leaving a widow, Sarah McCann, and five children; Elizabeth, Elijah, William, Daniel and Willis. Another of Daniel's boys, Daniel Jr., was in Wayne County, Tennessee in 1820. On September 26, 1820 Daniel Boone died in eastern Missouri, leaving behind no autobiography. He had written one in his old age but watched it fall out of his canoe into the Missouri River during an indian raid.

1823 turned out to be an eventful year for Benjamin Jr. and his family. One of his sons, Jeremiah, married Mary Dicken on September 30 in Morgan Co. Benjamin sold his mill to Jonathan Lyon, and it was about this time that his wife Salina died. The following year Ben took another wife, marrying Catherine Crutchfield of Morgan County on March 1, 1824. A daughter of his, Rebecca, married Levi Munden on August 6, 1824, also in Morgan County.

On May 18, 1825, Nancy Cutbirth, another of Benjamin's girls, married Hiram Tansey of Morgan County. Benjamin, having sols his mill and now about 60 years of age, changed his vocation. From Counties of Morgan, Monroe and Brown, Indiana; "Benjamin Cuthbert... was a professional hunter, and only a few of the early settlers could excel him with the rifle. He killed hundreds of deer annually, and made his living wholly from the sale of their skins, at from 75¢ to $1.50 each, and the sale of their "saddles". Many an old settler remembers eating venison of his killing."

A Methodist church was organized in Morgan County in 1828, building upon an acre of land sold to the church by Benjamin for a nominal fee of one dollar.

Benjamin married off another daughter on February 12, 1830. Jane married Green DeWitt in Morgan County. The federal census of that year for Morgan Co. includes Ben and wife Catherine along with their three children; Mary Ann, Soloman and Elias. Hendricks, an adjoining county, listed two of Ben Jr.'s sons, Jeremiah and David, who had moved up from Kentucky. Jeremiah's family at that time consisted of wife Mary and three children; Milton, George and Amanda. David's family included his wife Mary and their children; Elizabeth, Charlotte, Benjamin, James, Green, Charles and David D. Another of Benjamin Jr.'s sons, James, was still living in Whitley County, Kentucky in 1830. The 1830 census for Giles County, Tennessee lists a David Cutbirth. It is this author's opinion that David is actually Daniel Boone Cutbirth Sr. It is also this author's opinion that the name Daniel Boone Cutbirth Sr. is probably romanticism and wishful thinking on the part of an earlier researcher, and that his name was actually David Daniel Cutbirth. Proof otherwise will, of course, cause the author to stand corrected. Also listed in Giles County, near Daniel, was his son George. George was married to Sarah Foster, and in 1830 had three children; Margaret, Mary Ann and John.

The Cutbirth clan began to spread across the country in earnest over the next few years. Daniel Jr. moved to Tippah County, Mississippi. Daniel Sr.'s daughter Rachel, who married Littleton Abernathy, had already moved to western Tennessee. By 1833 Benjamin Jr.'s son David and daughter Rebecca Cutbirth Munden and their families had moved to Gasconade County, Missouri. Another son, Jeremiah, packed up his family and moved to Des Moines County, Iowa, near the town of Burlington. Jeremiah's wife Mary apparently didn't care for Iowa (or possibly Jeremiah) as we learn from the Des Moines County Directory; "Matrimonial infelicity was not uncommon in those early days, evidently, since Jeremiah Cutbirth was divorced from his wife Mary." Mary returned to Indiana with their children, where in May 1833, her brother Pemberton Dicken was appointed guardian of her children. Jeremiah remarried April 25, 1835 to Jaimsey Pritchell of Des Moines County, Iowa. Benjamin Jr. sold his Indiana lands and joined Jeremiah in Des Moines County in 1838, purchasing 155 acres for $194.40. Daniel Sr. passed away about 1838 in Giles County, Tennessee. He lived to be approximately 76 years old.

The 1840 Des Moines County, Iowa federal census listed Benjamin Cuthbutte 70–80, a female 50–60 (Catherine), a female 15–20 (Mary Ann), a female 5–10 (Rachel), a female under 5 (Matilda), two males 10–15 (Soloman and Elias), a male 5–10 (John), and a male under 5 (Benjamin). Jeremiah is not listed. Three of Benjamin Jr.'s children were married in the 1840's, all in Des Moines Co., Iowa; Mary Ann to James H. Walker on September 17, 1844, Soloman to Amanda Jackson on October 24, 1847, and Elias to Rhoda Jackson on April 2, 1848. Two of Benjamin Sr.'s children died in this decade; Mary Cutbirth Callaway on December 17, 1843 in North Carolina (her tombstone read: Mary Callaway, great grandniece of Daniel Boone), and Benjamin Jr., who passed away in Des Moines County, Iowa on January 10, 1848. Soloman was named administrator for Benjamin's estate and disposed of all of Benjamin's property. For some reason, Soloman and Elias then took their families, along with Benjamin Jr.'s minor heirs and moved west to Appanoose County, Iowa, but were all back in Des Moines County by 1852. Apparently Soloman and his brother Elias were not exactly two peas in a pod. While Soloman was noted for adopting orphans, Elias was unfortunate enough to spend time in the Burlington City Jail for forgery.

Benjamin Jr.'s son David had moved to McDonald County, Missouri by 1850 and his sister Rebecca Munden moved to Wayne County, Iowa with her family about 1848. She died there on April 10, 1853. Another of Ben Jr.'s sons, James, died in Whitley County, Kentucky in 1839. His widow Mary Ann and two of their sons, Joseph and Jeremiah, moved to Taney County, Missouri in 1844.

(The reader has probably noticed that some Cutbirth lines and migrations have been either left out or barely touched upon. These lines have already been thoroughly researched. Therefore it is the intention of this paper to throw more light on lines that have not been as vigorously studied.)

George Cutbirth, a son of Daniel Sr., moved to Greene County, Missouri early in the 1850's. He is mentioned in A Reminiscent History of the Ozark Region as one of the early settlers of that county. He was living in Robberson Township in 1860 with his wife Sarah (Sally) and children Eliza, Henry, Emily and Willis. Another son, Daniel, was also in Robberson Township, with his new bride Hannah Overstreet. George's daughter Margaret was in Campbell Township with her husband Clayton Overstreet, Hannah's brother. George's eldest son, John Wesley, was in Maury County, Tennessee in 1860 with his wife Elizabeth Jane Floyd and their children; Mallissa, Elbert and Mary.

David Cutbirth and his son James both died in Missouri before 1860. James' widow Sarah remarried, to Samuel Murray, and was living in Laclede County, Missouri at the time of the 1860 census along with three step children and her children; David Daniel, Elizabeth, Benjamin and Martha. David's widow Mary was also in the household.

Mary Ann Cutbirth, widow of James (Whitley County, Kentucky), was living with her daughter Rose Ann, who had married William Wiggins, according to the census in 1860. They lived near Chadwick in Christian County, Missouri in the densely forested Ozark hills. Many settlers heading west from Kentucky and Tennessee decided to stop and settle down in the Ozarks because it reminded them so much of the hills and mountains they had left. One can just imagine a heavily laden wagon rolling slowly through the lush, green Ozark mountains as tow-headed young'uns peered out the back, wide-eyed at the trees, cricks and hollers that would soon be their home. Living in the same valley, on Swan Creek, were Mary's sons Jeremiah and his wife Elizabeth, with children Andrew, Martin and Joseph; and her eldest son Joseph, with his wife Nancy Beam and their offspring; Mary, Elizabeth, James, Emily, Rachel, Martha, Matilda, Hannah, John, Catherine and Malinda.

When the War for Southern Independence erupted, Cutbirth men generally took up sides depending on which side of the Mason Dixon line they lived. Of the Mississippi Cutbirths, Daniel Jr.'s boys Daniel, Robert and Thomas all fought for the Confederacy. Daniel was wounded May 5, 1864 during the opening shots of the Battle of the Wilderness in Virginia and died three days later. He had been notified before his death that his wife Mary Jane had given birth to a son. Daniel sent word back to Mississippi to name the boy Matthew Boone Cutbirth. An obvious mistake in communications having taken place, the family had to name the baby girl Matty Boon Cutbirth. Robert also fell victim to the war. His brother Francis married Robert's widow Nancy Cox, in 1867. Thomas survived the war, after serving in Company E of the 15th Confederate Cavalry.

In Iowa, Benjamin Cutberth, a son of Benjamin Jr., took up arms for the Federal army. On December 20, 1861 he enlisted in the 15th Iowa Infantry. Although his military service was lackluster (He deserted June 25, 1862 at Pittsburgh Landing, Tennessee), he left some interesting geneaological information in his enlistment papers. He said he was born in Oakland County, Michigan in 1837, which means his father Benjamin Jr. must have lived in Michigan for a short time before he moved to Iowa from Indiana.

In Texas, Alvin (son of Elijah) and Samuel (son of Willis) both served the South. Another son of Elijah, Daniel Boone Cutbirth, joined Company C, 15th Texas Infantry, Confederate States Army on January 22, 1862. He served until he was discharged at Camp Nelson, Arkansas for "non-age" (he was too young) on November 7, 1862.

George's son, John Wesley Cutbirth of Maury County, Tennessee was an exception to the Mason Dixon rule of thumb. He served as a private in the 5th Tennessee Cavalry, Company H, which was a Union outfit.

Missouri, a border state, sent two more of George's sons to the war. Henry Cutbirth enlisted as a private in Captain Reed's Company K, Greene County Regiment of the Missouri Home Guards, as did his brother Daniel. They entered Union Army service at Ebenezer on June 6, 1861 and served until August 5, 1861; just after the Union forces were defeated by the Rebels at Wilson's Creek, just outside of Springfield, Missouri. Daniel then volunteered for Confederate service as a private in the 10th Missouri Cavalry, C.S.A. In 1891 Daniel applied for a Union Army pension based on the following affidavit from two of his friends; "We have node Danel Cuthburt twenty yare and longer and he has bin disabel for any manuel labor a tal. We node that he had rhumetism and was blind and coud not see his way hardley for a bout 15 yare and his stumach and his eyes air in bad shape now. Whend he was in survist he got over heat and he hant seamed right since." The application was turned down. In Christian County brothers Joseph and Jeremiah both enlisted as privates in Captain Nelson's Company E, Greene County Regiment, Missouri Home Guards, U.S. Army. At the close of the war their mother, Mary Ann (James' widow) was at the Cutbirth farm back on Swan Creek.The 2nd Arkansas, en route from Yellville, Arkansas to Springfield, Missouri, marched through the farmyard on that rainy day. "Old lady Cutbirth" as Mary Ann was known, and her grandson Rad, who was recovering from a bad fever, sat out on the front porch to watch the troops go by. A day or two later poor Rad relapsed and quickly died, the same day his Grandma Cutbirth, Mary Ann, passed away. They were both buried in the Cutbirth cemetery, on the edge of Swan Creek. Their plots were marked with cotton rocks, drug up from the creek, as were the other seven graves in the little grove by the creek. No lettering can be found on any of the stones. In June of 1865 her eldest son Joseph was made administrator of her estate, and after settling his mother's affairs, moved his large family to Polk County, Iowa.

In Whitley County, Kentucky, brothers Joseph L. and Benjamin Franklin Cutbirth, great-grandsons of Benjamin Jr., joined the 49th Kentucky Volunteers, U.S. Army. Joseph served as a corporal and Benjamin as a private. They both moved west after the war, Joseph moving to Kansas and Benjamin to Arkansas.

Living in Washington D.C. at the time of the war was a man named Benjamin Chambers. A letter from James Callaway to Lyman Draper tells of a Benjamin Chambers who lived in Washington City, a "natural son" of Benjamin Cutbirth Jr. He was described as being an engraver of considerable distinction who owned a portrait of Col. Daniel Boone. In the 1860 federal census for the District of Columbia was a Benjamin Chambers, 61 years of age, born North Carolina, profession of engraver. This individual had a personal net worth at that time of over $10,000. His two sons were named Benjamin and Boone Chambers. Unfortunately, James tells little else about Chambers, except to say that he was residing in Ashe County, North Carolina in 1849. With this being the only information at this time, any supposition about Chambers and how he got to be a "natural son" of Benjamin Jr. is fun, yet only conjecture. Perhaps more facts will be available for Cutbirth Connections, 3rd edition, in 1991.

TO THE HONOURABLE HOUSE OF DELEGATES

FOR THE COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA

The petition of the inhabitants of the county of Kentucky humbly sheweth, that your petitioners are and have for some time past been almost destitute of the necessary article salt. That by reason of the incursions of the different nations of indians this year past we have been prevented from making what quantities would be necessary for ourselves and families as we formerly did,for small parties would be in great danger of being cut off and larger ones could not be spared from the defense of the families.

That as bountiful nature hath plentifully furnished this country with salt springs where at a small expence salt might be made in abundance many of which are claimed by persons resident in this state who have never been at any pains or expence to erect manufactories at them which,if done would be very beneficial to not only adjacent settlers but also interior inhabitants of this commonwealth -

Now your petitioners humbly pray that if the claimants do not immeadiatly erect salt manufactories at the different springs claimed by them the honourable house would take it into thier consideration and order that the said springs should be made publick property and be manufactored by government by which means government would be profited and your petitioners have speedy relief and your petitioners in duty bound ever pray,

Maury County Petition - August 22, 1807

We whose names are undersigned being citizens of Duck River, represent that our bounds and number of inhabitants, respectfully intitle us and our situation requires and urges us that we petition the genl assembly of the state of Tennessee and expect that their political wisdom and justice will grant us a separate new county, to be bounded on the west by the Great Road leading from Nashville to Natchez, on the east by a line run due south from a point on the south boundary line of the orriginal county of Williamson, so as to pass a point twenty-eight miles due east of John Gordon's ferry (on Duck River) on the north as near the orriginal south boundary line of Williamson County as practicable and on the south by a line to be extended east and west at a proper distance to contain the constitutional limits of a county in order that we may enjoy the advantage arising from a permanent seat of justice.

WASHED AWAY—The picture of the old Cox mill and dam shows how more than a century of history of fire and water can make almost any structure disappear. This picture is a copy of a painting by the late William Stout, and is owned by his niece, Mrs. Dale Merideth of this city. It and others painted by Mr. Stout are probably the only visible proof of the 1817 mill's existence. Today near the site of the old dam there are remains of log pilings Whether they are a part of the original obstruction is not known Only the rock, Highrock, remains unchanged, as Old Man River has washed away much of the land, thus changing the banksides along this stretch of White River north of Martinsville.

SOME MISSOURI CUTBIRTH'S

The Cutbirth's were, indeed, true pioneers. They were always among the first to forge ahead into new territory; sometimes seemingly to stay ahead of all civilization and public records. As Benjamin Cutbirth, Jr. moved into Iowa, a few of his older children made their way into Missouri. As mentioned in CUTBIRTH CONNECTIONS, by 1833 Benjamin, Jr's. son, David Cutbirth and family had moved to Gasconade County, Missouri. How long before then is not known, but two of his daughters were married there in 1833.

Missouri Pioneers, Vol. 3, Marriage Records 1822-1841,
Gasconade County, Mo.:

Cutbirth, Elizabeth married Uriah Henchy 9 May 1833
by John Avery

Cutbirth, Charlotte married John Henchy 9 May 1833

The Henchy men were quite probably brothers, and most likely had a double wedding. Two girls, Aritta & Elvina, were born to Uriah and Elizabeth (Cutbirth) Henchy before Uriah's death in 1835. Elizabeth's father, David was administrator of Uriah's estate, and the two granddaughters were found living with David and Mary in the 1850 McDonald County, Missouri Census.

By 1840 David and Mary (Wilson) Cutbirth had moved on to Taney County, Missouri, leaving two sons, Benjamin and James, in Pulaski County.

1840 Pulaski County, Missouri Federal Census:

#229	Benjamin Cutburth	1 male	age 20-30
"	James Cutbirth	1 male	age 20-30

1840 Taney County, Missouri Federal Census:

David Cutbirth	2 males	10-15 yrs.

There is an elderly John Henchy (Hinchey) in Taney County, Missouri in 1840 also, with some young girls, possibly the Hinchey girls above were living with his family then. All of this is supposition, of course, but possible.

The year 1850 finds two of David's brothers families living in Taney County, Missouri, but David and two of his sons, James & Green, have gone on west to McDonald County, Missouri, near the Oklahoma border. It is believed that David's son, Benjamin stayed in the Pulaski County area, as he shows up again in the 1860 Wright County Census. Wright County was formed from Pulaski County in 1841, and according to the "HISTORY OF WRIGHT COUNTY", Goodspeed, II. Land Entries. Wood Township, in its eastern part, on Township 29, Range 12, was first entered on Section 33, in 1854 by Ben. Cuthbert.

It is assumed that David and his son, James both died during the next decade; for whatever reason, it is not known. But, we find Jame's widow, Sarah next in 1860 remarried to a Samuel Murray, and living in Laclede County, Missouri. This is getting back to near Jame's brother, Benjamin who is living in Wright County. Laclede County was formed from Camden, Pulaski, and Wright County in 1849.

Again, from the "HISTORY OF WRIGHT COUNTY", Goodspeed, under MILITARY ISSUES - Sundry Occurrences: "Duke Sumner, who served in the State Guards during the first year of the war (Civil), returned and assumed the role of bushwacker; with him was Polk Stephens, who lived near the present town of Mountain Grove. Both of them loved a Miss Sarah Gentry, of that neighborhood, but Sumner learning that Stephens had ceased to take interest in bushwacking and passed much of his leisure hours enjoying the smiles of this mountain Juliet, rode to Stephens' house and killed his rival in 1862. He also killed a boy of Cuthbert, after failing to kill the father, and was in every respect a terrible bushwacker, robbing where he did not kill. Among his gang were Henry Eaton, Dock Wright, Bill Malony, Bill Cannefax, Bill Rippee. This gang attacked James Sparks' house and fired at the owner. Next morning Capt. R. L. Butts went out there, and while making inquiries, Sumner's gang, fifty men, rode up, but escaped." The Cuthbert boy was, no doubt, one of Benjamin's sons.

At this point, this author becomes a little confused with the Cutbirth's in Wright County. - - - - - - - By 1870 Benjamin seems to have left Wright County for parts unknown. In his place, resides a Wm. Culburth, aged 40 whose children have been born in Tennessee and Illinois. I cannot identify this William at this time.

1870 Wright County, Missouri Federal Census:

#560	Culburth,	Wm.	40	m MO	farmer -200

No doubt, the above William descends from either Benjamin Cutbirth, Jr. or Daniel Boone Cutbirth, Sr., and I am thinking the latter. I have no records of Cutbirth's in Laclede County for 1870, but they reappear in 1880. Jame's widow, Sarah and Samuel Murray are still living there with only one daughter left at home.

And living not far away in Osage Twp. is James and Sarah Cutbirth's oldest son,.and this author's great-grandfather, David Daniel Cutbirth and his family. At this point it is again important to notice the many variations in the spelling of the Cutbirth name. To quote "The How Book For Genealogists" by Everton Publishers, "The researcher should try to know all of them. You may be proud of your family name -- justly so -- but do not imagine it has always been spelled at it is now. Not so very long ago few people could read and fewer could write. The spelling of a family name was not of particular interest to members of the family. The record keepers spelled the names that came to them in their line of duty as they sounded to them. Any way they were spelled drew no comment from the family members. It is not particularly strange that each one who wrote the name may have spelled it in a new way --." Thus it is from the year 1880 that my family took the spelling of Cutburth and are still using it to this day. In fact, I have yet to find another branch using this same spelling.

Getting back to the Cutbirth's in Wright County, Wm. Culburth has left by 1880, and there now resides a Jackson Culberth, aged 21 and his wife Rhoda J.. I dare say he is probably connected to Wm. in some way.

The above Wright County Census was taken from June 1st to June 10th, 1880. Only a couple of months before that, according to "HISTORY OF WRIGHT COUNTY", Goodspeed, under I. STORMS AND FLOODS: "The tornado of April 18, 1880, which created such havoc in southwestern Missouri, destroyed or injured the houses of J. C. Spence, Samuel Coday, L. B. Latimer and Y. B. Garner, near Hartville, and those of Mr. Krouse and Thomas Duncan still farther on. McMillan's house, three or four miles southwest of Hartville, was blown down to the floor, and he and his family, consisting of six persons, and a Mrs. Dotson and her three daughters, were all more or less bruised. Among other buildings destroyed were the houses of the Burtons, three miles northeast, of James McClanahan, Joseph Matlock and John Cuthberth." This John Cuthberth may have been the son of Wm. Culburth.

As noted in the 1880 Census of Laclede County, G-Grandfather David Daniel Cutburth had taken a wife about 10 yrs. his senior. He and Sarah (Sally) Ann Stith were married sometime between 1865 and 1869. She had two children by a previous marriage, and three boys were born to this union, the last being in 1873. Sarah's sister, Olive Buckner (Stith) Garrett and her two children were living with David Daniel and Sarah in 1880.

There was no Federal Census taken in 1890, and the turn of the century saw many changes in the lives of this family. For some unknown reason David Daniel and Sarah Cutburth had separated, and we next find Sarah in 1895 in Gold Hill, Oregon, living with her daughter, Francis Edmonia (Pridgen) Deboy and her family. It is not known why or how they came to be there. Records show that Francis Edmonia Shumaker was married to I. E. Deboy on 14 Mar 1894 at Gold Hill, indicating she had been married previously. Francis Edmonia had a daughter, Nora, by her first marriage, and a son Maz Deboy by her second marriage. In a letter from G-Grandmother Sarah, August 1896 to her son Alonzo Cutburth: "well Lon, Monia and Mr. Deboy is in it now. they have taken charge of the Union Hotell, the largest and best Hotell in Gold Hill, and has the Barber Shop, drug store, express ofice, an the tellegraph ofice all combined. maby you don't think that they don't get in and dig. they have some help. i help sometimes when i feel able. they have sent for your Aunt Olive to come and cook for them." It is not known how long they operated the hotel or what evolved in their lives after that, except that Francis Edmonia passed away in November, 1901 at 42 yrs. of age. Sarah lived till August, 1915 and both are buried at Hickory Point Cemetery, Gold Hill, Oregon.

The story handed down to my father about David Daniel Cutburth, was that he went to Oklahoma Territory in the 1890's and homesteaded land where Oklahoma City stands today. (Interestingly the inbred frontiersman still exists.) And the story continues that he had opened up a store there, had a fine buggy and team of horses, but that one day he was murdered and found dead in the Canadian River with a rock tied around his neck.

After diligently searching the Oklahoma records, I believe the above story is not entirely correct, and the following excerpt to be the true story. This article appeared in the Vinita, Oklahoma Weekly Chieftain, July 22, 1897, page 2, Col. 4:

(Muskogee Times)

The jury in the case of Cyrus A. Brown, charged with the murder of David Cuthburt, returned a verdict of murder in the first degree at 6 o'clock Saturday evening.

Cuthburt was a fisherman who lived in a house boat on the Arkansas River down about Webber's Falls. In September, 1896, Brown came down the river in a skiff, sick. Cuthburt seeing his need of aid and protection invited him to stop with him for awhile, which Brown did.

Cuthburt was last seen alive on October 6, and his body was found floating in the river, opposite to where his boat was moored. Before the discovery of the body, and after Cuthburt's disappearance, Brown told some parties that Cuthburt had gone away and possibly would not return, adding that he, Brown, had purchased the boat of Cuthburt.

After the finding of the body Brown claimed that a man named Morgan had committed the murder and he through fear of Morgan was forced to tell the story of Cuthburt's going away.

Morgan was arrested and tried but no evidence could be brought against him.

The evidence brought out by the prosecution, though circumstantial was so closely woven as to leave little doubt of the guilt of Brown. The evidence showed that Cuthburt had been shot in the back and that Brown fired the shot. Attorneys for the defendant filed a motion for a new trial.

Two years later the following article appeared in the Vinita, Oklahoma Weekly Chieftain, July 27, 1899, page 1, Col. 3:

SENTENCED TO HANG

Cyrus A. Brown Will Forfeit His Life on August 25.

Judge Thomas last Friday convened the May term of the district court in special adjourned session to dispose of certain urgent matters. One of these was to resentence Cyrus Brown, a convicted murderer whose case has just been disposed of by the court of appeals. The judge passed the death sentence upon Brown and fixed the time of his execution on Friday, August 25, 1899.

Brown, in the spring of 1897 was convicted of the murder of an old man named Cuthburt. The sentence of death was then passed upon him and the case taken to court of appeals. After considerable delay the higher tribunal decided that as neither of the men were proven on trial to have been citizens it had no jurisdiction in the matter, but remanded the case to the Muskogee court for retrial. Brown was again convicted and the case again taken to the court of appeals, where the finding of the lower court was affirmed.

Brown, who came to the territory as a hobo, met up with his victim on the Arkansas River, near Muldrow. The old man had a shanty boat on the river, and gained a livelihood by hunting and fishing. Brown was sick when he met Cuthbert and the old man took the tramp aboard the boat and doctored him and nursed him back to health. It was proven at the trial that Brown then murdered and robbed his benefactor.

-----Muskogee Times.

In a letter written by Sarah A. Cutburth, Gold Hill, Oregon, November 30, 1896 to her son, Alonzo Cutburth, Loring, Missouri, she states, "well Lon, we got a letter from Aunt Olive the other day. She sayd Dan was dead. he was drowned in the Canadian River when they found him with a rock tide to his neck. pore fellow. if he had sickned and died i would not felt so bad about it."

As for David Daniel and Sarah's three sons, they had remained in Missouri. Sarah's son by a previous marriage, James Pridgen, somehow took a new surname of Huffman. He made his way into Greene County, Missouri where he was married twice, and later removed to Joplin, Missouri where he died December 9. 1939. He left a total of seven children, three by the first marriage, and four by the second.

David Daniel and Sarah's oldest son, John Cephas Cutburth, better known as "Ce", did not marry until later in life and had no children. He and his wife, Adeline Barnhart Roark Cutburth are both buried at Mt. Zion Cemetery in Miller County.

Benjamin Franklin Cutburth, youngest son of David Daniel and Sarah, married Sarah Jane Roark, (daughter of Adeline Roark), on July 28, 1895 in Miller County, Missouri. One cannot help but notice that almost every Cutbirth family carried the name of Benjamin or Daniel down through the years. Benjamin F. and Sarah had eleven children, listed here in the order of their births: William Alonzo, Ernest Otto, Ray Hugh, Joseph, Claude, Olive, Effie Louise, Oliver Emmett, Edith, Myrtle Katherine, and Ruth Eleanor. They were still living in Miller County in 1910, but later removed to Tulsa, Oklahoma where Benjamin died in February, 1918, leaving Sarah with a large family to raise. She continued on in Tulsa for a time, but later moved to Shawnee Mission, Kansas near Kansas City where she died in February 1942. At the time of this writing (1987), there is one surviving daughter of Benjamin Franklin and Sarah Jane Cutburth, Mrs. Roscoe (Edith) Parker, who lives in Shawnee Mission, Kansas.

David Daniel and Sarah's second son, Alonzo, whose full name was Bluford Alonzo Cutburth, married Rhoda Mahala Morgan on August 12, 1897 in Wright County, Missouri. They were the parents of six children, four of whom lived to adulthood. Their names in order of birth are as follows: Delano, Debra, Isadore Marion, George Robert (this author's father), Luther Faye, and Elmer Vance. Bluford Alonzo and Rhoda Cutburth lived out there days in Wright County, Missouri, and are both buried there in Little Creek Cemetery along with four of their children, including my father and mother. At this writing, there is one surviving son of Bluford Alonzo and Rhoda Cutburth, Luther Faye Cutburth, who is living in Talent, Oregon.

David Daniel's younger brother, Benjamin was still living in Laclede County in 1900, but I believe he moved to Greene County in 1902 or 1903 and settled about 12 miles due east of Springfield, near the old North Star School. There are definitely many discrepancies in the following 1900 Census of Laclede County regarding ages and relationships.

Cutberth, Benjamin	m	54	born Feb 1846 in Mo.
Ella J., wife	f	46	born Jun 1854 in Va.

McHone, Sarah Lee, G.D. f 22 born Oct 1877 in Mo.
Clyde, G-Grandson 1 born Apr 1899 in Mo.
Babcock, May L. 8 born Jul 1891 in Mo.

This Benjamin was born in 1851 and would only have been 49 and not 54. Sarah Lee McHone would have been their daughter, she couldn't possibly have been a granddaughter, and Clyde would have been their grandson instead of great-grandson. According to Benjamin's death certificate, he died on October 13, 1924 at Springfield Hospital. His address was RFD #1, Strafford, Mo., and is buried at Danforth Cemetery.

Descendants of these and other Cutbirth's are now scattered to the far corners of the globe. It is my hope, that through the efforts of myself and fellow Cutbirth researchers, we can reap a rich historical harvest for all those who are interested, and continue to update the family history as time goes on.

Crossing The Bar

Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me!
And may there be no moaning of the Bar
When I put out to sea,

* * * * *

For tho' from out our bourne of Time and Place
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot—
face to face,
When I have crost the bar.
—Tennyson

George R. Cutburth

George R. Cutburth, 83, Houstonia, died Tuesday evening at his home.

He was born Sept. 7, 1901, in Hartville, Mo., son of Bluford Alonzo and Rhoda Mahala Morgan Cutburth. On Feb. 2, 1924, in Hartville, he married Velma Lois Delk, who survives of the home.

Mr. Cutburth was a member of the Little Creek Baptist Church, near Hartville. He was a retired farmer and construction worker. He was also the former owner of the General Store in Houstonia.

Other survivors include two sons, William Alonzo Cutburth, Paola, Kan.; Hadley Eugene Cutburth, Kansas City; six daughters, Allison Tuggle, Melvina Arnett and Bessie Raps, all of Houstonia; Tressie Vearril Mittenberg, Sedalia; Verda Gann, North Kansas City; Vivian Welch, Phoenix, Ariz.; a brother, Luther Cutburth, Talent, Ore.; 25 grandchildren and 27 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 10:30 a.m. Friday at Houstonia Community Church with the Rev. Orville Woolery officiating and the Rev. Robert Kessler assisting.

Pallbearers will be his grandsons.

Graveside services will be in the church cemetery, Hartville.

The family will receive friends from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Thursday at the Moore Funeral Home, Houstonia.

God hath not promised
Skies always blue,
Flower-strewn pathways
All our lives through;
God hath not promised
Sun without rain,
Joy without sorrow,
Peace without pain.

But God hath promised
Strength for the day,
Rest for the labor,
Light for the way.
Grace for the trials,
Help from above,
Unfailing sympathy
Undying love . . .

Velma L. Cutburth

Velma Lois Cutburth, 80, Houstonia, died Friday afternoon at Sweet Springs Community Hospital, Sweet Springs.

She was born Aug. 26, 1906, in Heartville, Mo., daughter of William D. and Mary E. Scott Delk. On Feb. 2, 1924, in Heartville, she married George R. Cutburth, who died in September 1984.

Mrs. Cutburth lived in Houstonia for 30 years and was a housewife. She was a member of the Durbin Baptist Church.

Survivors include two sons, William Alanzo Cutburth, Paola, Kan.; Hadley Eugene Cutburth, Kansas City; six daughters, Allison Tuggle, Melvina Arnett, Bessie Raps, all of Houstonia; Tressie Mittenburg, Sedalia; Verda Gamm, Kansas City; Vivian Welch, Phoenix, Ariz.; a sister, Agnes Jones, Springfield; 25 grandchildren and 32 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Monday at the Houstonia Community Church with the Rev. Robert Kessler officiating.

Pallbearers will be James Cutburth, William Cutburth, Randy Johnson, Dennis Raps, Kenneth Raps, Jerry Raps, Rusty Tuggle, Sean Cutburth, Roy Arnett and Ray Arnett.

Honorary pallbearers will be Robert Raps and Lewis Cutburth.

Burial will be in the Little Creek Cemetery, Heartville.

The family will receive friends from 7 to 8:30 tonight at the Moore Funeral Home, Houstonia.

COMFORT

Oh, deem not they are blest alone
Whose lives a peaceful tenor keep;
The Power who pities man has shown
A blessing for the eyes that weep.

The light of smiles shall fill again
The lids that overflow with tears;
And weary hours of woe and pain
Are promises of happier years.

For God has marked each sorrowing day,
And numbered every secret tear,
And heaven's long age of bliss shall pay
For all his children suffer here.

How oft' I climbed a hill
– and you did too –
To see what lay beyond.
What vistas of our world we knew
When we had spent our strength to view
What valleys would not show?

And now I really know
For I God's hill have climbed and found an ocean and a land
So pure, so fair I cannot stand
To look – and yet I do
For it is my promised home.
